

The quality of Italian workmanship

Each kitchen is individually designed to the requirements of the customer

By Kate Cranwell

MORE and more builders and developers are recognising the outstanding value for money and exceptional build quality of a Scavolini kitchen.

Available from The Island Kitchen Company, in Albert Street, Ventnor, each kitchen is supplied direct from Italy and individually designed to customer requirements. There is a huge range of colours and finishes to choose from so no two kitchens are alike.

Property developer Chris Atkinson has installed the competitively priced Scavolini Flirt kitchen, in white, at two of his executive new homes in Rush Close, Shanklin.

The stylish kitchens perfectly complement the build quality of the luxury properties.

Scavolini doesn't have the "sale" culture there is in the UK and its kitchens always deliver excellent value for money for both retail and trade customers.

Silestone, Granite or Corian worktops can also be supplied by The Island Kitchen Company to complete your new kitchen, again at very competitive rates.

Until the end of December 2014 you can take advantage of some fantastic offers on Bosch integrated appliances when bought in conjunction with a Scavolini kitchen. No minimum spend applies, simply contact Gary Ward from The Island Kitchen Company for more details on the price reductions available.

Above and right, the competitively priced Scavolini Flirt kitchen, in white, installed at two new executive homes in Shanklin.

1014-J609674 1014-J609676

